MERRY CROWD AT INFORMAL DESPITE RAIN

LeBaron's Orchestra Provide Splendid Music

NO CROWDING

Manifold and Multiform Are The Frocks Worn By The Ladies

In spite of the inclement weather the informal dance held in the Union last night proved to be a great success. It seems as though the weather man has a spite against the informals, but nevertheless the spirits of the dancers were not dampened in the slightest. As the whistling of the wind on a bleak wintry night seems to make the fire the more cosy, so the rain beating on the windows outside, made the dance all the more cheerful.

The music was supplied by LeBaron's five piece orchestra, and was absolutely irresistible. The orchestra has proved a favorite with those who patronize the informals, and add a personal sort of touch to their encores that is very taking with the crowd.

Manifold and multiform were the designs and hues of the frocks worn by the dancers. From palest pink to mauve the colors formed a pretty picture as the couples whirled in and out in the mazes of the waltz. The greens of the sea foam jade and apple vied with coral and flame for prominence, while a lone dress of cerise held the balance between the two.

Gold and silver and blues of every shade completed the living tapestry that spun itself before the eyes.

The refreshments were excellent, and the usual arrangements for supper made the comfort of the dancers complete. After trying several different schemes the present system seems to be the best.

The patronesses were Lady Currie, Mrs. Burckett, Mlle. Louren, Mrs. H. M. Lamb and Mrs. L. Montgomery. The guests were Sir Arthur Currie, Dr. H. M. Lamb, S. H. Davis, Robt. Hall, A. G. Hill, T. L. McCullough and R. S. Eager.

Among those present were: The Misses J. Rogers, Lennis, Gardner, M. Richardson, E. Campbell, L. Argue, E. W. Cameron, D. Campbell, B. Barnard, M. Sheehan, C. Ball, Adams, M. Webb, M. Balmer, D. M. Law, Herron, L. Lelebyre, (Continued on Page 4.)

SYRACUSE INVITES MCGILL SENIORS

To Play a Return Match At Syracuse Next Fall.

That the Rugby game this Fall between Syracuse and McGill attracted great interest, and helped greatly to foster the spirit of friendly rivalry existing between McGill and her American neighbours there can be no doubt. This was proved by the numerous reports of the game by the newspapers all over Canada and the States. But now there comes to hand a very concrete proof of the good impression made by McGill in the form of an invitation for a return game to be played at Syracuse on Nov. 11th., 1922. This invitation is contained in a letter from G. P. Thurston, graduate manager of the Syracuse team, expressing their appreciation of the splendid time given them while in Montreal. They carried away an impression of McGill which could leave nothing to be desired, and will talk about their trip here for a long time to come.

They were very much pleased with the spirit of hospitality and friendship which was shown them in a social way and also with the spirit of fine sportsmanship which prevailed in the game itself.

The students of McGill were only too pleased to have been able to entertain the Syracuse team and will welcome the news of the invitation for a return game. McGill had the chance of seeing an American team in action and it is hoped that it will be possible to give Syracuse a chance of seeing a Canadian team play. It is the custom in the States among the Universities to play the home games alternate years and not the home and home games each year as is the custom in Canada. The game this year was an auspicious start of what well could develop into an annual event at McGill namely the playing of an International game with an American College either here or in the States.

Nothing could do more to develop the good will existing between McGill and the American Colleges which means between Canada and United States.

THEOLOGS. BREAK INTO BASKETBALL

Two Exciting Games Staged Last Night At Molson Hall.

The theologs had plenty of chances to settle all arguments last night when the P.C. and Congo basketball teams met in battle royal at Molson Hall. Two games were staged, Junior and Senior, and on both occasions the P.C. men were forced to take the short end of the score but in both instances by a margin of two points only. The brand of basketball in the second game was naturally somewhat better than in the first but both the games were featured by plenty of exciting moments, a lack of personal fouls and rough play but by numerous technical fouls.

The first game was between the junior teams of the two colleges and both of these quintettes showed plenty of the do or die spirit, the game being keenly contested till the final whistle. The Congos had a slight edge on their opponents and managed to secure the victory by the close score of eleven to nine. Davey for the winners played a good game while Ginn made an excellent showing for the losers.

The seniors staged the second contest of the evening and both teams opened up with a high burst of speed. The P. C. men showed excellent combination and they undoubtedly displayed a better brand of this branch of the game dur-

INTERESTING LECTURE FOR MED. SOCIETY

Piezo-Electric Effects On Crystals.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

A. McLean Nicholson Gave Demonstrations Illustrated by Lantern Slides

Mr. A. McLean Nicholson, of the Western Electric Co., gave a very interesting lecture and demonstration on Piezo Electric Effects before a large assembly of the Medical Society. Piezo means pressure or an analogous effect. The Piezo Electric Effect was discovered by the two Curries in 1880. This was evidenced on the fracture of a crystal.

The piezo electric phenomenon, somewhat similar, is manifested on heating a tourmaline crystal, as is well known. Sound is emanated on striking a quartz crystal. Charges of electricity pass over its surface producing a tone due to elastic and electric waves. Mechanical waves produce electric waves and vice versa. If one crystal suitably interconnected with another by means of a wire is tapped, waves travel along the wire and sound is reproduced along the receiving crystal. A 35 gram crystal of rochelle salt was employed in the following experiments. The crystal transformed does not create energy.

Numerous slides were shown of various types of crystals. All these developed positive and negative poles on stressing. Asymmetric carbon plays an important part in piezo effects.

A very instructive demonstration followed. By means of a crystal suitably mounted on a gramophone needle music was transmitted to two hundred receivers throughout the audience. The vibrations of the needle being transformed into electric synchronous vibrations and these were reproduced by an ordinary receiver.

Mr. Nicholson then retired into another room and spoke against a crystal suitably connected with the 200 receivers and surrounded by corrugated paper under torsion. His voice was clearly reproduced.

The crystal transmitter on the gramophone converted through amplifiers to a receiver crystal in a gramophone horn, enabled music to be loudly reproduced. The sound of a clock ticking, as well as the tone of a tuning fork, were also transmitted and amplified enormously.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE ON MONDAY

First Debate of Season McGill vs. Queens

All Canadian students twenty-one or over who are registered at McGill are entitled to a vote in the coming Federal elections. Some students may still be undecided as to how to vote.

The tariff is said to be the main issue at stake; hence this has been chosen as the subject for the intercollegiate debate to be held Monday next, on the eve of the elections. Everyone is interested in this subject and everyone is urged to be present to hear Wilkes and O'Hagan prove that Canada needs "A Substantial Reduction in Tariff by the Incoming Parliament." All students, whether Liberal supporters or not, are urged to be present to get the last minute advice by two of their fellow students who have given their subject much study. A. E. Tremaine, vice-president of the Literary Society, will act as chairman and the judges will be Mr. Justice Surveyer, Mr. Arthur Terroux and the Hon. W. J. Shaughnessy, K.C. The McGill representatives have spent much time pouring over dry books and documents. The students can repay their representatives by a good attendance and can greatly aid in winning the debate. McGill won the Intercollegiate Debates last year and a win over Queens on Monday will give the Red and White the prospects of another Intercollegiate laurel.

ing both periods. At first it looked like a sure win for the P.C. but towards the end of the first half the Congo men staged a strong come-back and when the whistle blew for half time, the P.C. men had chalked up eleven points to the Congos nine.

Air-Peds
Save Your Shoes

Why buy THREE pairs of Shoes, when ONE pair equipped with Air-Peds will wear longer?

AIR-PEDS are a big improvement on the rubber heel principle. With Air-Peds your leather soles and heels never come into contact with the ground. This means that your shoes will last as long as the uppers hold together. But that's not all—Air-Peds cushion the roads—make walking much easier and far less tiring. And no matter how wet the pavement or slippery the floor you can't slip when the non-skid Air-Peds are on your shoes.

MONTREAL, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1921.

A GREATER MCGILL.

At last the long looked for additions to the University buildings seem to be imminent. For years the student body has laboured under difficulties due to lack of adequate accommodation for indoor athletics and for aquatic sports. Most organizations about the city have been most generous in their offers of the use of their premises, the Y.M.C.A. and the Montreal High School in particular, but at the best the hours put at the disposal of McGill have been a handicap to the best work of the indoor athletic teams. Besides, separating the activities into so many different buildings has tended to weaken the co-operation of the student body and the teams which represent them.

Molson Hall is at best a makeshift, and for indoor baseball, as well as other activities is hopeless. It is one of the best examples of the adage "Make what you have, do" and it is indeed creditable the work which is carried on in the old building. The work may have to be carried on for a year or two yet, but with an increased hope for a change for the better, it will not be hard.

The Arts and Commerce Students will be glad to hear of the proposed renovation of the Arts building. Students in other faculties will never know the conditions under which the Arts students have taken lectures. At the present time with rooms overcrowded and ventilation none too good it is a wonder there are not more cases of sickness than at present. With the coming of colder weather those next to the windows are chilled while those out of the draft are stifled. The complete remodelling of the interior of the building will remove all such things as bad ventilation and labyrinthine hallways and staircases. The graduates, if they have the interest of the present generation at heart, will not regret the passing of old landmarks dear to the days of their youth, but rather rejoice that the students of the future will have a better chance than they.

The new gymnasium will leap into instant favour. It will be the centre of the University's athletic activities. With a full schedule of hours to apportion, baseball and basketball teams will have greater opportunities of practice and stronger senior teams will go out to play for McGill. The swimming pool will be in constant demand, and will be a boon to the water polo teams, who are at present reduced to narrow limits for practices. Swimming will be sure to increase in favour, especially if instruction becomes a part of the athletic training.

The new gymnasium will supply a floor for dances of a more universal character than those which are held in the Union. As a rule the hundred and seventy five tickets are rapidly disposed of to the first comers, and very often others who wish to attend, but do not find it convenient to stand in line at the time specified, are forced to seek elsewhere for their amusement. For large receptions and formal dances the gym. would prove a blessing. At the next McGill Reunion, the committee will not be reduced to the expedient of having dancing in eight minute shifts in a crowded ball-room, as at the formal Reception this year.

Dormitories are the last thing to make as complete a college campus as any student could wish. Whether they are put up now, or when this year's freshmen have graduated, they should become a real part of McGill as soon as the authorities can see fit. Students from other colleges have pointed out that what McGill has to offer is the very best, but that a certain spirit is lacking which is a part of such Universities as have dormitory life. This is self evident, the very faculties at present are as separate as if they were distinct universities. If the men of the first year in all faculties could live in college dormitories, would it not tend to bind them in closer fellowship than is now the case.

When the gymnasium and the dormitories are completed, and the Arts building obtains a new lease of life, the way will be open for efficient work in what will be a greater McGill. If the rumours are to materialize, and it seems as if they might in the near future, then McGill will be an institution of an all round character, such as will be hard to surpass on this continent. Other colleges may have a greater number of buildings perhaps, but McGill will make up in quality what it lacks in quantity. So let us look forward to a university broader in activity and greater in spirit—the training ground for the future.

THE INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE.

On Monday the first of the Intercollegiate series of debates will take place. There will be debates in Kingston, Toronto and Montreal, each college entering two teams for the same day. McGill will debate at home and in Toronto. Queens will debate at home and at McGill.

The Toronto team last year carried back with them the impression that the McGill team was well supported by the student body. It is up to the student body to see that that reputation is kept up at the forthcoming debate on Monday.

Debating is one of the most important and most interesting features of the life activities, and the intercollegiate debate is a contest where brawn does not count, but where clear thinking and keen judgment play a large part. In previous years McGill have proven her strength in debating and this year will prove no exception. However an inspiring audience will do much to ensure victory for our debaters.

PEPYS AT MCGILL

Friday, Dec. 2nd. A most dreary and dismal day if ever there was one, and so in low spirits most of the day with some slight recurring of the colique I had two days since, which troubles me in some measure. Came to me this day one who sought advice on how he should conduct himself at the ball which the students hold at the Union again this night. Knowing that I had attended before. So I gave him grave warning that he appear not anywhere except where all may see him, for if any man be not constantly in the public eye, immediately there will be such a babbling of tongues set up as will last till Doomsday; it being of the nature of women to see a scandal in everything and to give their tongues free ways. I know not how it is, but I find to my concern that I am well known to those whom I know not, for this afternoon coming down the Campus by the gate, three, whom I took to be women students, stopped in their chatter as I passed, and I heard one, who said in a sort of awed tone, "There goes Pepys!" Only she said my name as if it were to rhyme with "steppes", which is a very abomination to my ears, and I had liked to have turned and said, "Madam, and it please you to make free of my name I would you had the good breeding to sound it rightly." This I am sure would have cautioned her for the future. My new landlady does not cavil at me that I choose to keep my stock of ale cool between the casements of my chamber, which is a great comfort to me in all ways.

They sat on the steps at midnight.
But her love was not to his taste—
His reach was just 36 inches,
While hers was a forty-two waist.

Students:

It is just possible that some McGill Students may be challenged while voting on Election Day. If so, we are explaining the oath, so that every McGill Student may know just what it means.

Form of Oath:

"You swear that you are a British Subject of the full age of twenty-one years, and that you have ordinarily resided in Canada for the year and in this Electoral district for two months immediately preceding October 8th 1921.

That you are not within any of the classes of persons who lack qualification or are disqualified by reason of appointment to Judicial Office, appointment for pay or award in reference the Election, place or birth, race, crime, mental incapacity, the receipt of public charitable support, or disfranchisement for corrupt or illegal practices.

That you have not already voted at this Election, and have not been guilty of any corrupt or illegal practice in reference thereto. So help you God."

It must be noticed that the word "ordinarily" is used in taking this oath. When an oath is taken by a voter whose name appears on the list as having "ordinarily" resided in the district in which he is voting for two months prior to October 8th, according to the Chief Electioneering Officer "residence" means as per his Election instructions; Paragraph 87—the following—

There is no technical meaning attached to the words "ordinarily residing" in the Dominion Electoral. This substantial fact need alone be considered. Residence is in a given electoral district for two months immediately preceding the date of the issue of the writ, and may be inferred either from the EXISTENCE in the ELECTORAL DISTRICT DURING THOSE TWO MONTHS OF A PERSONAL OR FAMILY HOME IN WHICH THE VOTER HAS LIVED EXCLUSIVELY OR PARTLY or to which, although he may not actually have stayed there during the period, HE INTENDS SHORTLY TO RETURN; or alternatively from the voter having actually lived in the Electoral district during the two months.

THIS will explain just what the word "ordinarily" (as appears in the Election Act) means, and you need have no compunction in taking such an oath if requested to do so.

COMMITTEE OF HON. C. C. BALLANTYNE.

LARGE NUMBER OF STUDENTS IN ATHLETICS

50 per Cent Played In Fall Sports

1139 EXAMINED.

Good Record Considering Facilities

Out of a total of little more than 2000 students registered at the University, over 50 per cent have been or are at present engaged in competitive athletics, according to the figures given out by the Dept. of Physical Education last night. These figures cover, of course, only those sports that have been in season thus far in the session, and it is expected that with the large numbers sure to turn out for class hockey and skiing, snowshoeing etc., which clubs are preparing for 320 odd men, this percentage figure will be increased considerably.

The figures show that 140 men in all played Rugby, while 100 men were engaged in track and field sports, and 20 played English Rugby. The indoor sports have all had attendance records broken, 225 to date having turned out for Basketball, 225 for Indoor Baseball and 200 for the B. W. & F. while the Swimming Club has their membership taxed to the limit with 25 men.

The authorities regard this showing as extremely gratifying, especially when it is considered that there is a woeful lack of accommodation for the indoor sports and that seven or eight different halls have to be used by the players. The unprecedented interest and enthusiasm being exhibited this year in the various leagues, goes to prove that the aim of the authorities which is that the athletic activities of the University be open to every man is not far short of realization. In former years a man who was not a highly trained athlete was practically debarred from entering college activities, whereas now and in the future it will be increasingly easy for a man who is not perhaps a brilliant player to enter all branches of sport.

AT THE THEATRES

ORPHEUM

Another rare treat will be given to the many patrons of the Orpheum Theatre next week, when the popular Orpheum Players will be seen in the greatest of all farce comedies "Charley's Aunt."

There has been few plays of recent years that have withstood the test of time as has "Charley's Aunt" which will be the offering at the Orpheum Theatre next week. Those who are familiar with the play readily appreciate why this play is as popular as ever. The story lays no claim to the unusual. It is merely a connected series of laughable situations and lines. The central characters are all youthful in their actions and pranks, displaying the exuberance of joy in life and realization of the sunny side of life. It is this spirit of youth that the play exudes which is one of its chief claims, to popularity, for its comedy rejuvenates, for the moment at least, those whose youth has been left in the background, and to youth it appeals because its characters are but the reflex of themselves in their happiest and most mischievous period, when romance casts a golden glamor over their future. Based on events in a student's life at college, Charley's Aunt deals with the expected visit of an aunt to the college her eventual arrival in disguise after one of the students has been requisitioned to impersonate her in order to satisfy the conventions. The arrival of the real aunt creates innumerable laughable situations which provide a wealth of fast comedy. "Charley's Aunt" is a play that old and young will enjoy, its comedy is wholesome, its characters unexaggerated and there is sufficient plot to make the story interesting.

The presentation of this wonderful comedy will prove a great vehicle to the members of the company, and will no doubt prove to be the greatest play which they will see this season. Manager Moss begs to announce to the many patrons of the Orpheum to secure their seats early, as seats are going fast and to wait too late will prove a big disappointment to many.

THE PRINCESS

An attractive programme has been selected by the management of the Princess Theatre for next week, in which dancing, acrobatic feats, songs, music and comedy are combined. Headlining the programme will be seen Clayton White and Grace Leigh, assisted by a capable company in a rollicking one-act comedy entitled, "Cherie" written by George W. Hobart, author of many successful plays and sketches. "Cherie" was used as the basis of a three act comedy and the sketch in its original form is being used this season by these popular players, who appeared in it when it was first produced. The offering is bound to prove a success, provoking much mirth with clever comedy lines and situations.

Ed. Lee Wrothe and Owen Martin will present a mirth-provoking satire, which they call "Now". Mr. Wrothe is

BOXERS WILL STAGE BOUTS AT STE. ANNES

For Benefit Of Returned Soldiers At Military Hospital.

TO-DAY'S BOUTS:

Elimination Contests At Union Exhibitions At C.O.T.C. Smoker.

Boxing enthusiasts will have a golden opportunity to see many bouts and excellent ones too. There are those of the elimination series at the Union today at 2 P.M. and two exhibition contests at the C. O. T. C. smoker on Tuesday night. Also on Wednesday night, regular elimination bouts will be staged at the Military Hospital at St. Annes.

Information regarding the St. Annes' trip was only received on Wednesday and it has caused a slight change in the programme for Saturday. Dad "Lamb" has visited St. Annes and arranged with Sharpe, for two or three 145 lb. and 175 lb. men to compete in the Interfaculty bouts. This should make things all the more interesting in this series as there is some good material at Macdonald College. Besides boxing the college has good basketball and hockey teams which should show up well in the interfaculty series of these sports. One of their swimmers too competed in the Olympic trials.

Connors and McGregor are to box Macdonald College men on Wednesday night. Other bouts of the regular elimination series scheduled for the same time are as follows:

135 Pound Class.

Science:—Wolsley vs. Merritt, final.

Commerce:—Simpson vs. Azeff.

Arts:—Cope vs. winner of Craik-Anderson bout.

145 Pound Class.

Science:—Smeaton vs. Champion final.

158 Pound Class.

Medicine:—Duffy vs. Boucher.

Commerce:—Caza vs. Wilson.

These bouts will take place at the Military Hospital at St. Annes and are being staged for the benefit of the Returned Soldiers there. It should certainly be a good boxing exhibition and an interesting one. The two finals of the series and the bouts in which the Macdonald men take part should prove especially interesting. If any of the men in the above list are unable to go to St. Annes on Wednesday night they are requested to phone Brewer, Plat. 474, at once. It is necessary that all details be settled as soon as possible.

There are a number of bouts which will take place today at 2 P.M. These should be worth while watching as the participants are mostly men who have won previous contests in the series. The programme is as follows:

Medicine: 125 pound class.

Reid, Quakenbush, Snow, Wener.

135 pound class:

Sullivan vs. Ward final.

145 pound class:

Melville vs. Charles.

Commerce 125 pound class.

Shocker, McCallum, Gow.

145 pound class:

Montgomery, Snyder.

The C. O. T. C. smoker Tuesday night will be the scene of two other interesting contests. For the benefit of the embryo commanders, Edelberg, last year's Intercollegiate champion will box Wener. Becking and Hyman will also cross mitts to show just what can be done with the arms nature provides. These will doubtless be greatly appreciated by the members of the C. O. T. C. The details are being arranged by Edelberg.

These contests will pretty well wind up the Interfaculty contest, which has been a success from all viewpoints. Over 65 bouts will have been run off when the St. Annes' exhibition finishes Wednesday night. Intercollegiate will be the next series of interest and here McGill will be all the better represented for the activities held by the B. W. & F. club during the present term.

One of the few comedians who understand the art of travesty, he is broad but never rough or coarse, and furnishes fun with a rapidity that is astounding. He is ably assisted by his partner Mr. Martin and the lines are bright, the comedy material new, clean and wholesome.

Two clever and youthful entertainers are Mae and Rose Wilton. These clever juveniles have steadily added to their prestige until to-day they are among the most sought after entertainers in vaudeville. Much of their success is due to their charming personality and the manner in which they present their songs, etc. Their offering is an exceptional one and is always welcome on any programme.

"Bohemian Life" is the title of a dance and music medley presented by Monsieur Adolphus & Co. A French premiere danceuse, a talented violinist and others combine to make the offering, which is attractively staged and costumed, one of the most effective seen here this season.

Fabor and McGowan present a vaudeville novelty which is out of the ordinary, being embellished with song, dance and chatter which they call, "The Compass." The four entertainers, a quartette, all of whom have unusually fine singing voices, will render up-to-the-minute harmonies. Until recently they

JUNIOR HONOURS TO BE DECIDED

This afternoon at the Stadium the final football battle of the season will be fought. The Junior Team, undefeated for three years, will meet the strong St. Lambert Tigers for the Junior championship of the Q.R.F.U. The team had their last practice Thursday and rested up yesterday to put the men in condition for the final contest.

The team has been taught under Shags' tutelage many of the shift formations used by the Senior team, and should give a fine account of themselves today. So far this year the third team has won six straight games and are looking for another. Loyola and Macdonald were each defeated twice and then the Juniors conquered Bishop's in two games, winning both in Lennoxville and Montreal.

The team has a very strong line, with Mathews as snapback and Wally Mitchell and Abinovitch as insides. McGillis and Snyder will hold down the middle positions, while Dunc. Anderson and Campbell Cope will probably play their usual reliable games at outside wing.

The backfield will probably be composed of Gav Chisholm, Grassick, and McConnell. Hutchison will be at quarter and Bob Davies at flying wing.

This is the strongest line-up that has represented the Junior aggregation this year and the result is confidently expected.

The St. Lambert team is heavy and with a strong back division, which McGill will need to cover closely.

The field will probably be somewhat soggy due to yesterday's rain and should slow the game up considerably. This is unfortunate as the field was in rather fair condition despite the snow on Thursday. Nevertheless a good fast game will probably be seen. As this is the last rugby game at the Stadium for 1921, a large turnout of rooters is hoped for to cheer McGill on to another rugby championship.

JUNIOR HOCKEY ASSOC. MEETING

The thirty-fifth general annual meeting of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association took place yesterday evening at the M. A. A. A. club-house on Peel street. The gathering was very well attended, representatives being present from M. A. A. A., Westmount, Victoria, Loyola, Nationals, Catholic High (which has now withdrawn from league membership) and McGill. Several matters of importance came up for consideration, chief among which were three applications for admission to the association, these however were left over for final decision by the executive, as due to arrangements being uncompleted regarding accommodation, it was doubtful whether or not a ten team league, inclusion of St. Lambert, would be possible.

The question of the age limit of twenty years for juniors arose, and it was determined that the regulations regarding presentation of birth certificates as provided for in the constitution would be strictly adhered to, and that the qualification of each player should be fully assured before

The second half was decidedly equal and on numerous occasions the two scores were similar. Towards the end of the battle the excitement reached a tension point and the numerous spectators created a fearful din and worked themselves into a dervish like frenzy rooting for their favorites. A half a minute before time the score board showed twenty-two all but a Congo forward managed to drop a nice basket and there was no further scoring before the final whistle.

For the losers Amaron played an outstanding game, scoring several field shots and many free throws. Avison also played a fast game at forward and was always there for the combination. Bronson, although he made bad connections with a couple of opponents and was badly shaken, starred for the winners and was ably supported by Moore.

The line up was as follows:

have been the feature of the musical comedy "Listen Lester" and live up to their billing, "All that the name implies".

The Fantino Sisters Co., provide a series of thrills in aerial work, which they accomplish with ease and grace, while Willa and Harold Browne, will present a novelty under the title of "Rag Art".

HOW TO SKI

The beginner will probably ask himself "why bother about the turns? Unless he does, he will very probably wake up some day in hospital as the outcome of a non-turn ski-ing trip. There are two reasons why one must turn; first, to avoid obstacles, and secondly, to control one's speed. Turns, skiing, turning turns are not an end in themselves. They are utilitarian. A really good turn should be as fast as possible; as safe as possible; as accurate as possible, and as effortless as possible.

The ski-er must realize that there is an uphill turn and a downhill turn. If one is running across a hill with the slope on the left, one may make an uphill turn to the left, and thus come to a stop.

The downhill turn or swing is used to join two tracks to one another. If a hill is too steep or covered with too many obstacles, it is usually better to take it in a series of curves. As a rule, such downhill swings are called 'S' turns.

A short turn is one in which the radius of the curve is short. A long turn is one in which the radius of the curve is long. One should always try to make a turn as long as possible, although the speed will be higher throughout, and therefore the turn more difficult.

The three principal ski-ing turns (which will be taken up in later articles) are the Stemming turn, the Christiania, and the Telemark. Each one of these may be made either up or downhill, or may be executed as a long or a short turn.

In a wood, or such ski-ing country as one finds all over Mount Royal, the ability to make short abrupt turns is invaluable. One usually learns this only through sorry experience.

In most swings and turns, the skis are held in the "normal edges position"; that is, a position in which the leg is at right angles to the blade of the ski, and one edge of the ski in closer contact with the snow than the other edge. Again, one may make use of the simile of the 'inside' and 'outside' edges in skating.

The theory underlying ski-ing turns is very simple. Two parallel skis will run straight down hill, but if one is placed at a certain angle to the other, they must begin to turn. Many beginners have the idea that they must lean in to start a turn. This is absolutely wrong. The fundamental idea to get firmly implanted in one's mind is that the turn is executed by an increase of the angle between the skis and not by an inwards lean. The body turns as the skis turn; if it turns faster than the skis, the swing will be a failure.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR TURNS.

1. Don't lean the way you wish to go in order to start a turn.
2. Don't lean inward except at the very end of the turn.
3. Keep your eyes fixed on some particular point or spot on your skis.
4. Don't let your skis run together before the turn is completed. Put them at the proper angle and hold them in that position until the turn is finished.
5. Don't let your weight come on the back ski until the turn is completed.
6. Don't try to force the turn.
7. In downhill or 'S' turns, remember that the only hope of success is to lean boldly forward and down the slope as the ski begin to come round.
8. Try to imagine that you are turning on the level. This pleasant fallacy is encouraged by keeping your eyes on some definite point.

The beginner should not be content until he can make each turn both to the right and left.

SPECIAL C. S. A. SERVICE

The evening service on Sunday, December 4th at the church of St. Andrew & St. Paul on Dorchester St., is to be given to the Student Christian Movement. The speakers will be Dr. W. A. Gifford, and Mr. E. C. Amaron, Arts '23, of McGill. Dr. Gifford has been a leader at student conferences for several years, and is thoroughly acquainted with the ideals, as well as the historical development of the Movement. Mr. Amaron is the President of the Student Christian Association at McGill this year. He also has had intimate contact with the Student Movement in conferences and in its local work.

POLOISTS STILL IN LEAGUE RACE

After one of the most closely contested and exciting water polo games of the year, Montreal Swimming Club went down to defeat before the frenzied efforts of M. A. A. A. Two overtime periods had to be played to decide the ultimate issue, and to enable the Winged Wheelers to come out victorious by the score of three to two.

Due to the win with which M. A. A. A. is credited by last night's win the league is in the position of a three cornered tie, with McGill M. A. A. A. and M. S. C. at the top. A series of eliminations will be necessary to decide the championship, which schedule will appear in Monday's "Daily".

MCGILL WINS IN WATER POLO GAME

Intermediates Defeated Lasalle At Central Y By 5 to 1 Score.

Play was very even during the first quarter, and both goal-tenders were called upon to save repeatedly. The ball travelled from end to end of the tank and finally Giles scored the first and only goal for Lasalle. From then till the end of the quarter play was very even.

First Quarter.

McGill took a strong hold on Intermediate Water Polo honours last night when they defeated Lasalle at the Central Y tank. This was the last game of their schedule and all now depends on the outcome of the M. A. A. A.-Maison-neuve game. Should the Peel St. Club win, McGill has the championship; but if Maison-neuve wins, there would be a play-off between the latter club and McGill.

The game was close and interesting in the first half when each team scored one. But in the second half the McGill men soon began to show their superiority and scored several goals in quick succession. Cowan and Vickerson being especially prominent. Lasalle rapidly faded before the powerful McGill at tuck and the game ended with the collegians victorious by 5-1.

Second Quarter.

Giles carried the ball down but just missed the goal. Both teams were taking long shots. Munro took a pass from Vickerson but was closely checked. However he recovered a moment later and scored McGill's first goal. McGill tried hard to score for the rest of the quarter, and Munro almost put in another, hitting the cross-bar with the ball.

Third Quarter.

La salle tried a long shot, but failed. Vickerson carried the ball down but was unable to score. McGill had the better of the play. Munro hit the post. Finally Vickerson took a long pass uncovered and scored the second for McGill.

Fourth Quarter.

Vickerson scored on a long shot just after the quarter opened. A few moments later he scored again on a back-hand shot. A short time later Ross put in McGill final goal. McGill was getting the ball every time at the face-off and had Lasalle on the defensive throughout the whole quarter.

BALL GAME ENDS IN WIN FOR SCI.

Dents '25 Lose Fast Game by 1 Run.

During the last week those of the four games played in the Inter-class Baseball League were decided by one run. Last night Sci. '23 just managed to beat Dent. '25 by the score of 7-6. The low scoring was mainly due to the good pitching by Simpson for the winners and Shorker for the losers together with air-tight fielding by both teams.

For the winners Stracie, Timmis and McNutt hit the ball hard while for the losers Gernitsky, Orr and Rafolovitch connected safely more than once. Sci. '23 by winning last night made a place for themselves in the second round while Dent. '25 was just nosed out by a narrow margin. Although they are no longer in the league, they should by no means give up practicing as at the close of the schedule, the two teams for the City League will be chosen and there is no doubt but what some of their men will catch the team.

The teams lined up as follows:

COLLEGE STORIES AROUSE PRINCETON

Daily Denies College Resembles Country Club

Recent books and articles picturing Princeton as a pleasant country club and an excellent place to fritter away four years of useless existence have aroused the ire of the Daily "Princetonian's" editorial writer. In a ringing defence of the university, the editor of the "Princeton Daily" brands as ridiculous and unfounded the stories which are circulating about that the typical Princetonian is characterized by hair oil, Brooks' suits, the Biltmore Lobby and carnationed button holes.

"Nor is it true," says the "Daily Princetonian" that Old Nassau bears resemblance to a country club with an unfavorable reaction upon the undergraduates.

Referring to one of the articles, the editor goes on to say: "The Brooks' Suit (an expression fast becoming trite) was characterized as the dominant college type. Far better the opposite extremes of sweaters and checked caps which if need be, we might first prefer."

"Princeton's Daily" vigorously denies that any of these conditions exist in the university, and that the atmosphere "stifles undergraduate ambition."

"Let the desire to make a good story, to build fantastic sentences into a best seller be subordinated to a search for the truth. Then the modern college may not be found so near the brink of futility."

MYSTERIOUS GARMENT DEPOSITED AT UNION

The mystery of the coat-coat here is a chance for all would-be Hawkshaws. A fur coat of the coin variety, pretty well worn was handed in at the Union on Saturday night. No check was given for it or, as far as can be ascertained no other form of receipt. The coat is still at the Union and is on exhibition for any one interested in clearing up the mystery of who owns the coat. Photographs may be taken, samples of the fur, will be given away, fingerprints, or any other evidence which will lead to the location of the owner. Bloodhounds may be used, but careful instruction should be given them to locate the present owner of the coat and not the original owner of the fur.

Foul play is suspected. How else could

BASKETBALL WON BY MEDICINE '25

Score of 24 to 18 in Interclass Match

Last night's Interclass game resulted in a win for Med. '25 over Med. '27, by the score of 24 to 18. The game was closely contested, especially towards the end. The scoring however were divided amongst the Med. '25 men, all of whom played steady games. Their superior height and combination left the Med. '27 team at a loss. Rapkine of Med. '27 scored 13 of his team's points counting 11 of them in the final half.

such a valuable and necessary article of clothing be discarded so carelessly. Investigators are advised to go fully armed and shoot at sight.

The prime owner of the garment may be going around with practically nothing on, while his precious garment hangs useless on the pegs of the Union cloak room. All sorts of disastrous consequences might ensue.

It is only human justice for anyone capable of unraveling this mystery to give all information in his powers.

After — December 6th WHAT?

WHILE there are the very strongest grounds for believing that the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen will again be the Prime Minister of Canada after December 6th, every voter in the Dominion should appreciate the results that would follow any other possible decision at the polls.

In this election there are factors and conditions which have never appeared in any previous General Election in Canada. There are three parties contending for the reins of Government.

The National Liberal and Conservative Party, led by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, is appealing for return to power on a platform calling firmly for the continuation of a reasonable Protective Tariff.

The Liberal Party, under the leadership of Hon. William Mackenzie King, with a Tariff plank in its platform tending strongly toward Free Trade.

The Progressive Party, led by Hon. T. A. Crerar, seeks support on a platform which calls for Free Trade.

There should be little or no doubt that the majority of the people of Canada believe in a policy of reasonable Tariff Protection. The great danger is that past party affiliations may lead some to vote for King candidates not fully realizing what the consequences may be.

To these electors we now suggest they study the situation carefully before voting. If they do so they will learn that if the election results in a King-Crerar or a Crerar-King alliance, Canada's Protective Tariff is doomed.

Crerar as leader of the Progressive movement, is determined to pursue his Free Trade course, and his Western supporters will never let him depart from it.

King has so trimmed his sails that he can join any group. Party principles with him are secondary to his strong desire to attain office. His many speeches have indicated most clearly that this chief aim is to secure the reins of government and he stands prepared to sacrifice The Tariff or anything else to secure that end.

Do You Believe—That the maintenance of a Protective Tariff is essential to the future prosperity of Canada?

Do You Believe—that it makes no difference whether you vote for a Meighen candidate or a King candidate?

Do You Believe—that on December 6th you may vote as you please without endangering the entire industrial and commercial life of the country—including farming, mining, fishing, lumbering?

There is only one safe course for YOU to follow.

There is only one safe course for all Canada to follow.

There is only one leader who stands firm for the maintenance of a reasonable Protective Tariff and who has consistently stood by his platform from one end of Canada to the other. If you want a reasonable Protective Tariff to be maintained in this country the only safe and sure course for you to follow is to vote for Arthur Meighen and his candidates.
